Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1:

It is not clear how the apparatus implements fault tolerance and failure isolation features as it is being recited in the preamble of the claim.

At line 4, due to the phrase “said controller including” is being recited, it is not clear whether or not the controller includes all the below recited elements (at lines 5-17).

At line 5, the phrase “a first interface to a pair of master sources” cannot be understood. It is not clear what is the first interface doing to the pair of the master source.

At line 6, the phrase “a second interface to a plurality of target interfaces” cannot be understood. It is not clear what is the second interface doing to the plurality of target interfaces.

At line 7, the phrase “a third interface for a plurality of predefined controller control signals” cannot be understood. Firstly, the word “controller” should be deleted. Secondly, it is not clear what the third interface doing with the plurality of predefined control signals.

Claim 5:

At lines 3-4, the phrase “for defining a master of said pairs of redundant selector and ATTENTION monitor functions” cannot be understood. Firstly, what is “master”?

Art Unit: 2138

Secondly, it is not clear whether the phrase should be mean “for controlling said pairs of redundant selector and ATTENTION monitor functions.

Claim 9:

At lines 3-4, the phrase “for defining a master of said redundant functions or of a pair of controllers” cannot be understood. Firstly, what is “master”? Secondly, it is not clear whether the phrase should be mean “for controlling said redundant selector or a pair of controllers.

Claim 10:

At line 3, it is not clear what the phrase “for resolving a master” actually means.

Claim 11:

At lines 2-3, the phrase “said first interface to said pair of master sources” cannot be understood. It is not clear what is the first interface doing to the pair of the master source.

Claim 14:

At line 2, the term “said target interface (singular)” is not logic. It is not clear which target interface is recited since plurality of target interfaces (plural) are being claimed previously in claim 1.

Claim 15:

It is not clear how the method implements fault tolerance and failure isolation features as it is being recited in the preamble of the claim.

Claim 16:

At lines 3-4, the phrase “for defining a master of said pairs of redundant selector and ATTENTION monitor functions” cannot be understood. Firstly, what is “master”? Secondly, it is not clear whether the phrase should be mean “for controlling said pairs of redundant selector and ATTENTION monitor functions.

Claim 19:

At line 3, it is not clear what the phrase “for resolving a master” actually means.

Claim 20:

At lines 3-4, the term “said target interface (singular)” is not logic. It is not clear which target interface is recited since plurality of target interfaces (plural) are being claimed previously in claim 15.

Claims 2-4, 6-8, 12-13 and 17-18:

These claims are rejected because they depend on claims 1 and 15 and contain the same problems of indefiniteness.

2. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
